BOND ELECTION SET FOR AUGUST 7

ROAD BIDS WERE SUBMITTED JULY 17

Thomas & Ratliff May Get Contract

Bids were received by the State Highway Department on Tuesday. June 17 for construction of 9.6 miles on U. S. Highway 77, according to Judge Dan Tyson.

Judge Tyson said that Thomas and Ratliff, contractors of Rogers, made the lowest bid. Several bids were submitted. The amount of the bid submitted was $142,571.00 which includes grading base work and a two course surfacing job. The construction will begin at the city limits north of Cameron and connect up with the newly completed construction from the Falls County line to Burlington.

The bridges within this 9.6 mile construction have already been completed.

No contract has been awarded but it was presumed that Thomas and Ratliff would do the work since they made the lowest bid, however it has not been officially announced.

This needed construction will greatly aid in the traffic on highway 77 as it is a international highway and is heavily traveled.

General Wakefield Makes Appointment

August G. Kunz, Chairman of Local Board No. 92, announces that word has been received from General Paul L. Wakefield, State Director of the Selective Service System of Texas, that Dr. T. S. Barkley, Rockdale, Texas has been appointed to serve as Medical Advisor for the Milam County Board.

In his letter to Dr. Barkely, General Wakefield states "We are confident that your services in this capacity will reflect great credit to yourself and the Selective Service System of Texas."

Dr. C. G. Swift and Dr. T. L. Denson, both of Cameron, also serve as Medical Advisors to the local Board.

The appointment of Dr. Barkley will be a great advantage to registrants throughout the couny. Those regisrants from Thorndale and Rockdale ordered for local medical interviews will no longer be required to appear before the Medical Advisor in Cameron, since it will be so much more convient for them to be interviewed by Dr. Barkley.

The work of these men which is entirely voluntary, is deserving of much credit, since the work of the Medical Advisor is a very vital phase of the operation of the Selective Service System.

Merchants Asked To Make Contributions

The crops and conservation committe of the Chamber of Commerce met Friday night at 7:30, according to Roy Wright, chairman.

The purpose of the meeting was to make plans to raise a premium for the first bale of cotton harvested in Milam County this season to be ginned in Cameron, Texas. This activity has always been of interest to farmers in this area and they will be glad to know that the Chamber is undertaking such a movement.

In 1950 the Cameron Herald raised the premium by contacting the business firms of the city for donations. Merchants and businessmen are always glad to contribute to this popular project.

This custom of raising a premium for the first bale of the season has been practiced for several years in Milam and surrounding counties. This premium is given each year in appreciation of the cotton industry as it is the main source of income for the county.

There has been no indication or estimation as to the number of bales the county will produce this year. With the dry weather that has prevailed for the last month, the crop will be smaller than predicited earlier this year.

Labor Shed Contract Awarded Robbins

The committees of the Chamber of Commerce and the Farm Bureau that have been working on the labor shed project met in joint session Thursday.

A contract was awarded to Alton Robbins, local contractor, to erect the shed at cost of $1712.36. The shed is to be completed by July 25 and will be 59x28 foot structure. Three bids were recently submitted to the committees. Other contractors submitting bids were Roy Weems and Emil Biskup.

A labor shed is a vital necessity as a concentration center in any farming area and such a building has been needed here for several years. Merchants and businessmen realize the advantages in having such a shed in the immediate area as seasonal transient labor will bring additional business to this area.

All merchants, businessmen, farmers and others are asked to make donations and they will be received at the offices of the Chamber of Commerce and Farm Bureau. Some $600 is needed immediately so that construction can get underway. The cotton harvest season will begin soon and every preparation should be made to take care of the laborers.

The Chamber and Farm Bureau have advocated this project and adequate financial backing is necessary.

Members of the committees are: E. A. Perrin, Bill Arthur, L. G. Smith, Arthur Jungman, Dennis Klein and Albert Dorner.

The building will be located on the southeast corner of the municipal airport with necessary disposal facilities. This location will be very beneficial to both farmers and laborers.

The committees have been working diligently for almost a month on the project and the complete cooperation of every citizen is essential in building and maintaining the shed.

Bids were received by the City Council Tuesday night for the purchase of a water pump for the labor shed.

The following business firms made bids, Wied Hardware, Henry Dryer, Williams Plumbing Shop, and McDonald Plumbing Shop. No action was taken on the matter and the bids were referred to the finance committee for final action.

Wied Hardware's bid was $200.00, Henry Dryer, $160.95, Williams, $183.30 and McDonald, $130.00.

There are no water and sewer facilities at the labor shed and adequate facilities will have to be built in order to maintain sanitary conditions.

Taxpayers To Vote $55,000 Bond Issue

A number of discussions were held a the city Council meeting Tuesday night.

A large representation of the Cameron Fire Department were present but did not request anything or present a petition as has been the case in recent weeks.

Mayor A. N. Green asked fire chief Ralph Michalka if they had anything to bring before the council and Mr. Michalka said no, they would just listen to the procedures of the council.

Alderman L. Van Perkins said there had been some discussion concerning some legal matters about the labor shed but thought they had been ironed out.

Alderman Robert Weems brought before the official body recommendations of the finance committee on giving the street employees of the city a 10 per cent wage increase. He also recommended $5.00 a week increase in the salary of H. E. Johnson, street grader. The motion was made to increase these salaries and passed unanimously.

Alderman Johnny Andres asked if the bond election was officially killed. Andres at a previous council meeting made a motion to call a bond election for the amount of $55,000.00 to build a fire station, a place for city offices and water department and equipment. This motion caried by a 3-2 vote. This motion also stated that the building would be erected on the present site of the fire station.

A delegation from the Junior Chamber of Commerce recently appeared before the council, asking the council to rescind that part of the motion designating the site of the building. At a meeting of the council two weeks later, alderman Perkins made the motion to rescind the part of the motion designating the site and it passed by a 3-2 majority.

Mayor Green said such action to rescind and such action previously taken was illegal and could not be done according to the law of the city government.

Alderman Perkins said he was still against erecting the building in that part of the town and said the best thing for the city would be to defeat the bond issue. He said he was sure the majority of the people wanted the municipal building located in another part of the city.

A resolution calling for the election to be held on Tuesday, August 7, 1951 was passed by a 4-1 count. The ballot will read as follows: For Issuance of the bonds and the Levying of the tax and payment thereof, or Against the Issuance of the bonds and the levying of the tax and payment thereof.

Dan Gunn was named election Judge with B. J. Matocha, assistant.

Clerks will be Mrs. John Ryan and R. W. Bennett.

Dr. A. E. Kruse, representing the Cameron Roping Club, appeared before the council in regard to the lighting expense at the club grounds in the Wilson-Ledbetter Park. Dr. Kruse said he thought the roping grounds was a part of the recreation activities of the city as well as the playground at the ball park.

Alderman Perkins said there had been some complaint about dust the roping activities had created at the park and it was settling in the swimming pool which was disagreeable with its operations. Perkins suggested that members of the roping club meet

The connued Central Texas drouth is costing farmers a half a million dollars a day, according to J. C. Patterson, county agent of McLennan County.

Patterson indicated that the drouth really began to hurt the farmers around the first of July.

Half grown cotton bolls are opening prematurely in some parts of Central Texas therefore crop prospects are very short

A rain at this time would still help the cotton crop considerably however it would be to late to aid the corn crop to any extent. A rain would help the young grain.

Pink Bollworm Area Expanded On Account Of Heavy Infestation

During the past week the Texas Commissioner of Agriculture John C. White made two changes in the Pink Bolworm regulations for Texas. One of the changes widely expands the designated heavily infested Pink Bollworm Area of the State. The other change greatly eases the movement of cotton seed originating in the heavily infested area.

Formerly, only the counties of Willacy, Cameron, Hidalgo, and part of Starr in the Lower Rio Grande Valley were declared to be heavily infested with Pink Bolworm. Under the new regulation the heavly infested counties are thirty-nine in number, running from the Coastal Bend Area westward along the border to El Paso.

The other change which allows cotton seed to move more freely and still be under appropriate safeguards, provides that such seed maymove freely among counties in the heavily infested area with only one gin sterilization treatment instead of having to have two such treatmnets. Also, if they are not going out of th eheavly infested area to be used for planting seed, and are going to a sterilization treatment, only one such treatment is required before they leave the heavily infested area.

The Commisioner accredits the cotton industry and the federal agencies as being very helpful in assisting with the above revisions which may be obtained from the local gins and the inspectors.

Mrs. Annie Reese and daughters, Mrs. W. C. Vines and two children of Albany, Mrs. Wayland Hughes and two children of College Station visited Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Whites at Austin last week.

Mrs. Harry Tag, Assistant Cashier at the First National Bank is taking her summer vacation and will return to her work the last of the week.

Farmers Are Urged To Study Crops

Production and marketing adminstration's conservation program is rapidly increasing in importance in Milam County because farmers are realizing the need of sound conservation program on their farms. More than 400 new participants were added to the Agricultural Conservation program in 1950.

In 1950 farmers built over a half million feet of terraces and planted 581,000 pounds of winter legumes for soil improvement. ;Approximately 5,000,000 pounds of superphosphate was issued for pastures, cropland grasses and legumes, there were 3,092 tons of limestone spread on farm land, more than 32.000 pounds of pasture seeds were issued for pasture improvement and 224 farm ponds were built for better desiribution of livestock water. These are only a part of the practices carried out under the ACP in Milam County in 1950.

There are indications now that these figures quoted will be exceeded in 1951. Farmers are urged to study their growing crops now to determine the conservation practices he needs to carry out this fall.

The Miam County PMA through its Agricultural Conservation program is making every effort posible to encourage farmers to establish a sound conservation program on their farms, by offering them financial and technical assistance.

Conservation is a vital part of the National Defense program now being carried on over the nation. Demand for food and fiber is the greatest in history. By carying out a sound conservation program on his farm the farmer will be able to do his part in the defense effort.

Texas Truckers To Heed Provision Of New Law

Texas truckers, today, were put on notice to heed the provisions of a new law enacted by the 52nd Legislature requiring the installation of mud guards or flaps on heavy vehicles.

Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, pointed out that the law, which became effective on June 21st, requires that mud flaps be installed on any road tractor, truck, truck tractor trailer or semitrailer, excepting pole trailers, when operating on the highways when the roadway is wet.

Garrison explained that the guards were required on these vehicles only of they have four or more tires on the rear axle. The flaps, he said must be located and suspended behind the rear wheels of the vehicles within six inches of the surface of the highway and must be at least as wide as the tires they are covering.

Construction of the safety guards, according to Garrison, must be such that they will remain in proper place back of the rear wheels, and rigid enough to prevent slush or mud from being transmitted to the windshield of any following motor vehicle within a distance of 100 feet. The flaps may be constructed of metal. rubber, rubberized material or heavy flexible textile material.

Garrison stated that the law does not apply to those vehicles which are so designed and constructed that the above requiremens are accomplished by means of fenders, body construction, or other means of enclosure.

Mrs. John A Smith, Sr. attended the dedication service of the new Baptise church at Gause Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hlavaty and son of Caldwell were recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Tindall.

The bridge is 250 feet long and is on concrete piling. The bridge cost was $27,324.16. Total estimated cost of project was $61,426.85. The cost as built was $61,799.65.

Soil Conservation Vital to Farmers

No one will ever know how much good Milam County topsoil has gone off the land by washing rains or how much fertility has been cropped out of the soil by bad farming, but the results are with us and will be for a long, long time.

It is true that a good many farmers started to remedy the situation some years back, and we have all over the county farms that are rich and fruitful because their land owners are farmers in the real sense of the word and every year put back into the soul something of what is taken out of it in cropping...who see to it that the rainfall stays where nature meant it to, the place where it falls. But there are enough of the other kind of farms left to give us pause.

When that which nature put upon the land is gone, you can put it back only by hard work over a period of years. It's expensive work at best.

The topsoil is worth more than all the money in the bank, and we don't have too much of it. In fact, some nations don't have enough of it. That's why their people are starving, and that's why this nation is called upon to feed and clothe so much of the world. But the farning is given us that unless we conserve our soil, one day we're not going to have enough for ourselves.

J. T. Faver of Austin recently visited his father, W. D. Faver.

Dry Hot Weather Ends Tomato Season

J L. Foster, owner and operator of the Foster Produce Company said early Wednesday morning he had closed down his tomato shed for the 1950 season.

Mr. Foster said he has shipped 84 car loads of tomatoes this season. Three carload lots include No. 1 greens, No. 2 greens and pinks. The cars average about 22,500 pounds.

He said he had shipped more tomatoes this year than any other years since he had been in the produce business. Last year he shipped only 27 car loads, approximately one-third of this year's volume. Milam County has produced a bumper crop of tomatoes as well as melons. Some farmers are still harvesting a few tomatoes but harvest is about to be concluded due to the dry hot weather that has prevailed in the past three weeks.

Prices have ranged from 7 to 2 cents per pound this year on No. 1 greens and as high as 12 cents for pinks. The price broke in the early part of the season which usually happens when a bumper crop is produced.

The tomato crop each year is a major portion of the county's income and will rate high in 1951.

1948 was also a good year for tomatoes when a large number of cars were shipped out.

August Draft Call Is Increased

State Selective Service headquarters received official notice today that its August call for 485 men has been increased to 772, Brigadier Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state director, said in a statement.

This is the state's share of he naional call increased from 22,000 to 35,000. Ffty-seven local boards, which otherwise would not have received a call for August, will now get one, the state director said.

"This increase emphasizes that Korean peace headines do not necessarily have a bearing on manpower procurement for the nation's armed forces," General Wakefield said in a letter to Texas local board members after receipt of the added call.

"This is just another act demonstrating the resolve of our nation not to be caught unprepared again," he contined in his letter to board members. "The recent passage of the new Universal Military Training and Service Act, which extends our manpower procurement program for another four years, is an important step toward our status of being ready.

It is however,, but one phase of the long range planning to maintain our domestic andforeign military commitments. I urge you all to keep this uppermost in your minds as you continue in the faithful and diligent discharge of your responsibilities.

General Wakefield paid tribute to the more than 500 Texas local board members for their "splendid service to the nation's welfare" as uncompensated personnel of the Selective Service System.

'I ask that you resolve with me to continue to perform our duties in the best Texas tradition," the state director's letter to the board members concluded.

Peace Talks Make Friendly Progress

(From The Daily)

U. N. TRUCE CAMP NEAR KAESONG, Tuesday, July 17— Allied delegates reported progress Monday in whipping the Kaesong armistice conference agenda into final shape at two brief meetings with Red delegates held in a "more friendly" atmosphere.

Tuesday's fifth full-dress session of the fateful cease-fire talks, now one week old, was called 7 p. m. Monday CST), an hour later than usual, at the completely neutralized conference site.

The five United Nations general officers and the five Communist generals bargained over the green baise conference table for less than two hours Monday, and the two meetings were separated by a two-hour recess asked by the Reds.

For the first time the official United Nations communique gave a hint of mutual agreement on at least part of the conference subject matter when it said:

"The United Nations command delegation reports some progress was made in the formation of a mutually agreed upon agenda."

The end of the fourth sesion came two hours and five minutes early on a note almost of relaxation from the grim and guarded atmosphere of the previous day when the stalled talks resumed. An Allied briefing officer told correspondents:

"Everyone was more friendly today than ever before."

Twenty of the correspondents themselves had first-hand evidence to back up their estimate. The correspondents who traveled to Kaesong for the second day found a noticeable warming up on the part of previously hostile and sullen Communist attaches.

As if keeping pace with the improved tone of the talks, the ground fighting slackened off to minor patrol skirmishes, but there were air reports of a continuing enemy buildup.

Allied airmen smashed 24 brand new railroad cars in the Anju marshalling yard north of Pyongyang and worked over rail and highway arteries from the Manchurian border to the front to keep Red supply lines cut as much as possible.

Some enemy troops were spotted southeast of the conference site but in Kaesong itself and along the demilitarized road from the Allied lines, peace reigned.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hayes and son Joe Glenn Hayes all of Waco were week end guests in the home of Mrs. Leona Walton.

Stop that scratching!

Talent & Beauty Contest Will Not Be Held

The beauty and talent pageant has been cancelled, Dr. Gus Evans said.

This was due to the lack of contestants to participate in the event. Committees that had been working on the show for several weeks were very enthusiastic over presenting the pro gram, and regret it has been called off.

The Cameron Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored Miss Gwynn Wilson in 1950 who was the first runner up to Miss Texas at the New Braunfels show in August last year.

Dr. Evans wishes to express his appreciation to the committees that worked on the project so faithfully.

Lester Williams, president of the First National Bank, offered a scholarship of $250.00 for the winner. Culpeppers, Green Motor Company, and the Jaycees were to be in charge of the trophy awarding.

Several contestants were secured this year but were not sufficient to stage the show. It was hoped that more interest will be created among the contestants next year.

We wish to express our appreciation to our many friends who were so kind to us during the continued illness and the passing of our loved one, Effie Mae Fussell.

We thank you, our friends for every kind deed for every comforting word and for the beautiful flowers. May God bless you all.

Conservation Practices Benefit Milam Farmers

The soil and water conservation which farmers of Milam County have carried out under the Agriculture Conservation Program are helping to keep thousands of Milam County acres productive, says Mr. Paul C. Graves, chairman of the county PMA committee. The saved, protected, and restored acres are now helping to pro duce what is needed to strengthen the Nation's defense.

As the chairman explains, acres that were going out of production because they were cut to pieces with gullies have been restored through The use of conservatio practices. Terraces have helped check the erosion that was taking the topsoil. The use of lime and phosphate with the seeding and improvement of adapted grasses and legumes have brought the land back into production.

Now that the Nation is calling on farmers to increase production to meet defense needs, the conservation work done under ACP becomes increasingly more imporant, say, Mrs. Graves.

The conservation practices which farmers have carried out in the past have helped to keep the farm production plant in condition to meet today's needs. But, he added, these acres which are producing to meet todays needs must be kept in condition for greater needs tomorrow.

Just as the conservation practices which the farmers of Milam county carried out in the past are helping to meet present needs, so the conservation practices which farmers are carrying out today with help put farms in production for the future.

New Muscle-Relaxing Drug Now Available

A new muscle-relaxing drug that is closely related to a South American arrow poison has been made available to doctors by Lederle Laboratories.

A spokesman said that use of Flaxedil, this new synthetic drug, in the operating room will mean less anesthetic for the patient, less nausea and more rapid recovery.

The new drug is similar to curare, the drug first used by South American native hunters as an arrow poison to paralyze their game. Curare was first discovered by explorers soon after the arrival of Columbus to the New World. It was observed that natives dipped the heads of spears and arrows into the drug while hunting. Later it was learned that curare acted against nerve endings to brings about temporary paralysis of body muscles.

The native drug was too impure to be used except in the laboratory. But eventually it was purified and used as an adjunct to anesthetic, because of its musclerelaxing quality. However, there were a number of disadvantages in using curare, so scientists developed several substitutes.

This new curare-like drug is known to scientists by the jaw-breaking name tri (diethylaminoethoxy) benzene triethyliodide.

Men Classified In 1-A and 1-A-O May Enlist By August 1

A telegram was received today by August G. Kunz, chairman of Local Draft Board No. 92 from General Paul L. Wakefield, State Director of Selective Service.

General Wakefield advised that enlistment period for registrants now classified 1-A and 1-A-O examined and acceptable has been extended to August 1.

Mr. Kunz furher states that in an Operations Bulletins No. 39, received from National Headquarters of the Selective Service System dated June 14, 1951, the board was advised that the inter service agreement limiting enlistment eligibiity, under which the service agreed that no person would be accepted for enlistment after he has received orders to report for preinduction physical and mental examination, has been temporarily rescinded for a period from the 15th of June through July 15, 1951. This bulletin in effect allowed recruiting services to enlist any man up to the time he is ordered for induction.

The extension until August 1st means that any young man in Milam County who has had his armed forces physical examination, but has not received his order to report for induction, may enlist in the service of his choice, if he does by August 1.

Letters To The Editor–

Printing this letter does not mean that we are endorsing Mr. Poage. On the other hand, we aren't against him. We are simply using this means of passing on to our readers any information we might have.

We are certainly in accord with Mr. Poage's views on price controls, such as they have been expressed. He seems to have a wonderful case "agin" the present system, but we'd like to know what he intends to do. He says he wants to get production, but he doesn' say how. We'd like to known what his plan is.

Dear Friends:

Once a lady went into a grocery store and asked the price of eggs. The grocer told her 40 cents. She said "that is outrageous! Mr. Brown't price down the street is only 30 cents." The grocer than said, "Well, why don't you buy your eggs from Mr. Brown?" The lady replied, "Because Mr. Brown doesn't have any eggs." The grocer than said, "When I don't have any eggs, my price is only a dime."

I feel that this illustrates a fundamental economic law which many of us overlook, and many more want to overlook. Congress can pass laws fixing prices on eggs, on shoes, on meat or on any and all commodities, but Congress cannot assure the people that these things will be available when they want them. In fact, we all known that unless the producer can expect to get all his costs of raw material, all his costs of production (including labor costs),, and a fair profit in addition, he simply will not continue to produce. Why should he. Would you?

If we can't buy the things we need, what good will it do us to be old that the price is fixed ever so low? Sometimes it is possible to fix prices below the cost of production and still buy he needed products for a considerable time from the supply of goods already "in the pipeline."

We are now told that we are faced with a long period (10 to 20 years) of international tension and economic stress. We cannot expect to be able to get the goods we need over such a period if we deny producers (whether they be farmers or manufacturers) an opportunity to make a profit.

This is the basic issue which has been debated in the House all week. All of us would like to tell you that we have passed a law that is going to stop all price rises and still enabe you to buy everything you want." Some people believe it is just that simple. I don't believe that it is possible. I have often explained my views. I shall, therefore, only say at this time that I have been trying to get a bill that will get producion. Production is the most effective deterrent to high prices.

Frontier Mystery Seen In "Gunplay"

A frontier mystery is excitingly unravelled in "Gunplay," RKO Radio's startling western drama starring Tim Holt, which opens Friday and Saturday at the Milam Theatre.

Holt and Richard Martin, his customary pal, are cast as a pair of cowpunchers who pick up an eleven-year-old boy on the desert and discover that the boy's father has been murdered. Their efforts to learn why, and to bring the murderer to justice, keep the plot moving at a swift clip right up to the stirring climax.

Letters To The Editor–

Ed. Note— Guess we slipped up. We had no record of this in our files, but are glad to get it. Thought we'd pass it on to our readers.

Mr. Milton F. Brown, Jr.
Editor, The Cameron Herald,
Cameron, Texas.

Dear Sir:

It was with a great deal of interest, that I read the article in the July 5th issue of the Herald, announcing the purchase of the Herald by you, and the historical narrative of the newspaper.

In listing the names of various publishers I noticed that the name of George L. Henry was omitted. I worked as a printer's devil under Mr. Henry in 1911 and 1912. For several weeks I worked for no pay. When I was able to set two galleys of type a day, I received the whole sum of $5.00 per week. Out of this amount I paid $3.00 per week board and squandered the remaining $1.50 over the week end on cold drinks and candies. Each Monday morning found me without a solitary nickel.

And yet for me, this was one of the most fascinating jobs in all my experience. How true is the old saying, "Once you get printer's ink in your blood it will always remain."

Suspended on a wire in the dusty corner of the front office, were file copies of the old Centinel, dating back to the sixties. They were brown from age and had to be handled with care lest they crumble in your hands. I spent many a Sunday morning glancing through these old papers of long ago. If I remember correctly, they were of five columns and only four pages. The type used was indeed queer, something on the order of Old English. There were advertisements by a few business firms. Some of the names were familiar, others I did not recognize. I remember reading a "personal" of a confederate soldier who was home on leave from Hood's Brigade.

Getting back to Mr. Henry. He often said that he was a poor newspaperman, only a job printer. Many times I spoke to him about the absence of headlines in the paper. I used to dream of the day when I would be the publisher. There'd be big headlines across the top of the front page, and every news item would carry a headline.

But if Mr. Henry wasn't a newspaperman, he was a least a great promoter. Each year he carried on a subscription contest with numerous prizes, pianos, farm implements and various other items. I might mention here that w eseldom got the paper out on time. That old press was always breaking down.

Perhaps one might think that those were hard times, but somehow I never gave it much thought in those days. A boy of twelve lived the day as it came, letting tomorrow take care of itself.

I like to think of the good people of Cameron that I knew as a boy. Many of them now rest in old Oak Hill, but they are not forgotten, for surely they have left us something behind.

Sincerely yours.
Jesse Wilkerson.

P. S. You may publish the above in the Herald if you desire. I enclose my check for $2.00 for renewal subscription.

First Doctors Will Be Drafted in July 23 Call

Washington— Selective Service said today the first doctors among 717 to be called up this month probably will be drafted for the armed services on July 23.

Although physicians have been notified to report for induction, they still can apply voluntarily for commissions, the agency said.

It added that the 717 notified to report in July must do so even if a considerable number of physicians should volunteer. It said voluntary applications for commissions might cut down future calls but would not affect those already ordered.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

PARDON us if we play switchman with a familiar railroad phrase, but we aim to flag down some certain people . . .

Those folks who've always had a great big yen for a new Buick, but a big worry that Buick prices ran too high for their budgets.

Now we'll have to grant you that—on style and beauty and size and impressive appearance—a 1951 Buick looks like a pretty high price tag.

And we'll have to grant, too, that the zooming power and the luxurious ride and the heavyweight steadiness you get in a Buick would also indicate prices beyond the reach of most people.

But honestly, you'll find nothing farther from the truth when you note the price tags on 1951 Buicks.

You'll find that beauty with the big-power, big-mileage, valve-in-head Fireball Engine is really within your budget picture—with prices starting below those of many of today's sixes.

And you'll have to admit then and there that you can have Buick room and comfort, can have Buick ride and handling, can have Buick style and size—for little, if any, more than you've been paying for lesser cars.

That leaves the next step up to you—stopping in to see us.

Come in soon, look over the SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER you've always wanted—and let that happy glow go surging all through you as you sign up for your smart-buy Buick.

Here are some timely tips for selecting and freezing fresh fruits. In selecting peaches — look for a creamy or yellowish ground color rather than the pretty blush, which many well flavored varieties do not have at all. Avoid peaches with dark green ground color for these are immature and will not ripen satisfactorly.

The yellow fleshed peaches offer somewhat larger amount of Vitamin A than white fleshed fruit.

In freezing fruits it is most desirable to pack fruits to be eaten "as is" in sugar syrup made of 3 cups sugar to 4 cups water. You may use dry sugar pack for fruits to be used in pies to cut down on liquid.

Wash, peal, half and pit fruit - do not dip in hot water to peel as for canning. This causes the outer layer to soften when frozen.

Slice peeled peaches directly into cold syrup in freezer jar, or other container, to prevent darkening. To help peaches hold color and flavor while in the freezer, add Ascorbic Acid (Vitamin C, which can be purchased from drug store) to the syrup-putting ½ teaspoon in each 4 cups cold water. Press fruit down into containers and add enough syrup to cover. A pile of crumpled parchment paper placed on top helps hold fruit under the syrup.

Allow ½ inch head space for expansion in pint contaniers and 1 inch for quarts. If contaniers are more narrow at the top, alow ¾ inch for pints and 1 ½ inch in quart contaiers. Wipe the edges clean and dry, seal tightly, freeze and store at Zero degrees F., or colder.

BY ANDY ANDERSON

IF SOME avid fisherman tells you he saw a fish flying through the air with the greatest of ease, don't call him a liar, because the chances are he saw just that. There are five species of fishes in the ocean which actually can fly. They are —the Sharpnose Flying Fish, the California Flying Fish, the Bearded Flying Fish, the Flying Gurnard and the Sea Moth. The flying fish that is seen most often along the Texas coast is the Sharpnose, which is sometimes as long as 9 inches. It has the body of a fish, resembling a very small Tarpon in shape, with two large wings which permit the fish to glide once its swimming force lifts it out of the water.

NONE of the fiying fiishes actually fly, but are gliders. The Flying Gurnard, however, is said to fly like a butterfly, although it is not capable of long flights.

HORSTMANN BROTHERS

Hunters Are Urged To Observe Game Laws

Possibility that Texas hunters may be restricted to afternoon shootong during the coming mourning dove season was indicated Friday at a meeting of the Game, Fish & Oyster Commission.

Word received by the Commission from the Federal Fish & Wildlife Service, which sets the seasons on all migratory fowl, was that afternoon hunting was being considered by the Federal authorities.

This news came after the Commission had recommended the same dates, shooting hours and bag limits for the north zone on mourning doves and had recommended a later season, beginning on November 15 for the south zone.

The Commission acted in accordance with a poll taken of Texas sportsmen on their preferences for the mourning dove season. Preponderance of north zone opinion was to retain the present September 1 opening date, while the bulk of South zone hunters responding to the poll wanted a later date than the present October 20 opener. Many from the south zone asked that the mourning dove dates parallel the quail season beginning on December 1. The Commission recommended the south zone opener be November 15 and run through January 1.

Bag limits under the Commission proposal would be ten birds and shooting hours would be from one half hour before sunrise to sunset.

The Commission then voted to recommend that the Texas waterfowl season begin not earlier than November 10. The dates last year were November 3 to December 17. No indication was received as to bag limits and length of the season on waterfowl.

The Commission changed the deer season in the nine counties west of the Pecos from November 6 to 11 inclusive to November 20 to 25 inclusive, after receiving requests from both sportsmen and landowners. The Commission also reduced the bag limit from one male white-tailed and one mule deer to one male deer.

The deer season for the state at large is set by law and runs from November 16 to December 31 with two buck deer the limit.

Drastic Penalties Provided In New Driver Responsibility Law

Drastic penalties are provided in the new driver responsibility law which will go into effect January 1.

A driver involved in an accident and found not to have a current driver's license may be forced to maintain full responsibility proof from that time on.

He must show he can satisfy damage claims of $10,000 per personal injury and $5,000 property damage in the collision in which he was involved and keep that proof on file with the Department of Public Safety thereafter.

Failure to report an accident involving personal injury or property damage of more than $100 can be punished by a fine of $25 and a 30 day suspension of drivers license.

Failure to give correct information on the accident report form or presentation of forged securities can be punished by a fine of up to $1,000 and up to one year in jail.

Driving a vehicle while your license is suspended can cost you a $500 fine and six months in jail.

Failure to turn in a driver's license when it is suspended by the state can cost a fine of $500 and a jail sentence of 90 days.

The Department of Public Safety may grant a self-insurer certificate to any owner of 25 or more vehicles. It also has the authority to revoke such a permit on five days notice, presumably for failure to satisfy judgements.

For the present, the enforcement will be financed by appropriations from the drivers' license revenues, with all revenue under the law to go back into that fund.

Reports from drivers will not entail a fee, but copies of reports which may be sought by other drivers, by insurance companies and other interested parties will cost $5 each.

with the finance commitee of the city council and discuss the matter and work out something satisfactory on the situation. Dr. Kruse thanked the officials for their cooperation on he matter.

Perkins made the motion that the city attorney be instruced to prepare necessary papers or an ordinance to call an election to elect a Charter commission. Alderman O. B. Harden seconded the motion and it passed unanimously.

In the adoption of a Home Rule Charter the city may adopt any form of government it desires. General Law cities are definitely tied down to the provisions of the general law, which home rule charter, general speaking can do anything which is provided in the city charter so long as the charter is not in conflict with the laws of the state and the constitution. Home rule should give Cameron means by which to annex territory and to extend city limits; to enact and enforce saniary regulations; a police department and other important needs.

Alderman August Kunz, chairman of the police committee, specified the new locations where meters would be installed. He asked that all loading zones be abolished and that merchants wanting loading zones pay a flat rate of $5.00 per month.

Housewives Must File Domestic Workers Returns By July 31

"Housewives must file social security tax returns for their domestic workers for the 2nd quarter of 1951 by July 31 at the latest," Mr. James B. Marley, Manager of the Austin Social Security Office said today.

Mr Marley advised employers of domestics, who have not already done so, to immediately get in touch with the collector of internal revenue. "It is necessary to do this only once," he said, 'thereafter the collector's office will mail your tax blanks to you each quarter."

All tax returns must include the employee's social security number, otherwise the employee cannot get credit for the wages being reported. Housthold employers do not need an employer's number.

The new law covers domestics on a compulsory basis and for the first time gives workers regularly employed in a private household the same retirement and survivorship protection that other workers have enjoyed under the social security program.

'To be regularly employed," Mr. Marley explained, 'a domestic must work for one employer for 24 or more days in a calendar quarter, either part time or full time, and be paid $50 or more in cash wages. A calendar quarter is a 3-month period beginning with January 1, April 1, July 1 or October 1."
